About Us:

Our students come from all across the city, representing a diversity of race, religion and culture. But one thing has not changed. Most of our students come from low income homes. So staff make certain students eat hot meals, wear clean clothes, gain access to medical care, and participate in activities preparing them for school. Fees are determined on a sliding scale based on family income.

The mission and ministry of High Street Neighborhood Center—caring for, and teaching, Lexington’s children in an environment of Christian love—is one we take seriously. While Calvary and First Church provide foundational monetary support, additional monies from outside sources are critical. Please join us in our efforts!

Additional Facts:

- 75% of our enrollment falls below the poverty line
- Our license allows an enrollment of 60 children, about 1/3 of which receive financial aid
- We often see third generation children enrolled
- Four empty slots for families in emergency situations are set aside
- All parents must work and pay some portion of the weekly cost to receive scholarship monies
- Majority of the staff have been in service for more than 10 years
